HONOUR YOUR SUCCESS

COW WAX PULL UP LEATHER

At The Chesterfield Brand, Cow Wax Pull-up leather is the most frequently used type of leather. After pressing, the leather is manually coloured with aniline dyes impregnated with natural oils and waxes instead of paints and pigments. This soft finish ensures that these dyes will not remain on the skin, but are pulled into its pores, creating the natural vintage look. As a result of waxing rather than spraying, we created a very durable product that maintains its quality and colour.

VEGETABLE TANNED COW LEATHER 'BLACK LABEL'

This type of leather is used for the Black Label collection of The Chesterfield Brand. Vegetable Tanned Cow leather is the most expensive to make, because it is vegetable-tanned, i.e. it is completely free of chemicals and only natural products are being used. What gives a Black Label its own character is the extensive 'Pieces-dying technique'. Black Label products are sewn together before treatment, including lining, metal accessories and zippers. Then as a complete bag, it is placed in a bath of various natural products so that everything is processed at the same time. After this, each bag is hung to sundry and then dyed and polished by hand. This technique ensures that every product gets a unique character because there is always a difference in the hide's absorbency. This technique is also the reason for the cotton lining in these products, the cotton lining is also coloured by the main processing and is also the only type of fabric that can be combined with the 'pieces-dying technique'.

SOFT CLASS COW LEATHER

The Soft Class is our high class leather collection. This cow leather has a special effect because it is thicker than our other leather types. Because the leather is split in a special way, it gets up to 20% more volume. In addition, the Soft Class is 'finished' leather, which means that it is painted in the right colour. This, together with a flexible painted counterpart, creates a more modern and 'clean' look.

ANTIQUÉ BUFF CRUMBLED LEATHER

This type of leather is made of buffalo leather. Buffalo hide is generally a harder type of leather, but in collaboration with the tannery The Chesterfield Brand has developed a special treatment process, which keeps it supple. Since with machine spraying only a solid effect is possible, this type of leather is handsprayed in the correct colour. This creates the so-called 'two-tone' effect.

WASHED VINTAGE COW LEATHER

This type of leather is processed differently than the other leather types in our portfolio. After the leather is painted into the right colour, the bag is sewn together and 'washed' in a special washing machine. Subsequently, after drying, the bag is filled with paper and polished which creates the leather its shiny glow.

RFID

An RFID chip is integrated in almost all your cards. This chip allows you to make a contactless payment. With the introduction of contactless payment, various bodies such as the consumer association and various banks already warned about a new phenomenon: digital pickpocketing.

Soon the first wallets and covers with aluminium foil around it appeared. Aluminium foil stops radiation and prevents contactless payment. Soon after the first metal cases with RFID protection were marketed. Not much later, the first wallet with RFID protection was sold. The development of RFID protection has developed to the point that it can be incorporated in wallets by means of a foil. With the introduction of our brand in 2013, we decided as one of the first brands to provide our full range of leather wallets with RFID protection.
